Currently working as the Head of Data Strategy and Corporate Solutions at Qualogy, I help designing and executing the corporate roadmap together with our teams, as well as translating problems and client needs into solutions that align with our strategy. With my enthusiasm, creativity and solution oriented mindset, I easily build relationships and connections to help companies and individuals achieve their goals. I believe on R&D, innovation, the many applications of Data Science and the ways it is transforming companies, governments and our society.
